STRATEGIES FOR LEADING THROUGH THE UNCERTAINTIES ARISING FROM COVID-19

Invitation to join a CSLE virtual learning group

As a Community Interest Company (not for profit) we wish to support leaders during the Covid-19 crisis. We are offering this opportunity free of charge to our Alumni members and their colleagues, as well as friends of the CSLE.

The COVID-19 pandemic is proving to be a testing ground for leaders across the UK and around the world. Leadership is especially important during times of crisis, with each day bringing different challenges. The decisions we make as leaders can have a tremendous impact on our people and teams, as well as outcomes, positive or negative. You may find it difficult to keep focused with all the uncertainty about the future and would welcome an opportunity to make sense of your experiences with other leaders.

As we move through the crisis, we are inviting leaders to join virtual cross sector learning groups. As a member of the group you will be able to discuss your experiences and gain advice and insight from other leaders. This will help you tackle the challenges all leaders are facing, in organisations and across sectors, thinking beyond the crisis and through recovery.
